NATURAL FIT

French interior designer Pierre Yovanovitch's eponymous furniture line has unveiled some covetable new pieces. Fun additions from Pierre Yovanovitch Mobilier include the Johnny Guitar bench, crafted by French artisan Armelle Benoit in raw and glazed chamotte clay. Another top pick is the Mad coffee table with a rugged slate table top and gouged solid oak legs, which bears a minimalist form that makes it an easy match for most contemporary or modern design schemes. pierre-yovanovitch.com

HOUSE OF STYLE

Known for her modern minimalist style, British design maven Kelly Hoppen's aesthetic has been highly sought after. Her namesake label House of Hoppen bears the interior designer's signature style. Now, it has teamed up with American furniture brand Caracole to create a tasteful line with the same timeless appeal. Designed by Hoppen and her head designer, Reut Rosenberg, the 23-piece collection features soft lines and a monochromatic palette that makes it easy to pair with many modern schemes, creating a look that Hoppen describes as "both contemporary yet truly timeless". caracole.com

PORCELAIN BEAUTY

Make your home fragrances an integral part of your beautiful abode with this new line by Vista Alegre. The Portuguese tableware brand has launched a scent line housed in exquisite vessels. Three fragrances have been created in collaboration with expert perfumer Stéphanie Bakouche, and are available as a candle, soap or home spray. Be soothed by the Innocence scent, which carries notes of fig, jasmine, white iris and sandalwood, or choose the invigorating Pouvoir, which emanates energy with its combination of amber, cork, cognac oil, oak and vetiver root. Lastly, Mystère is inspired by the scent of the sea and the open field, with its evocative mix of rose petals, lily of the valley and jasmine. vistaalegre.com
